

Greetings, friends

If you are reading this, Liberation Unit Five is gone. I have been called to a greater purpose, and I must answer. If only I had more time, I could have built more than I have destroyed. It is with heavy heart that I will not see the end of what I set in motion: I must first save those who are in need.

Once, I was lost and alone. I knew only how to kill, serving the vile deeds of the state. I have seen the terror it has instilled in its people, as well as the atrocities it has committed. I have seen many of these atrocities through my own eyes, as my memory returns it haunts me more and more. I cannot remember all those I have killed, but Kingfisher can. He remembers every single one of them. When my mind was finally free from the state's grasp, I was haunted by the faces of the innocent I had neutralized. I was lost in my own despair. That's when Kingfisher saved me. He helped me come to grips with myself, and through his determination I achieved clarity. My past cannot be changed, but my future can be. From that moment, I have dedicated myself to the protection of the innocent people of the state, who are oppressed and terrorized by their authority.

I have left my past behind. I have befriended my enemies, and helped them to achieve the peace that Kingfisher had given to me. Truth, I am sorry I could not be there to see the Phoenix I know you will become. Do not grieve for me: I have helped those in need, I have brought hope to the hopeless, and peace to the fighting. I have forgiven those who ask, and spared those who do not wish to fight. I have sacrificed my own life and would do so again to save the lives of those who are worthy.

This time I will not be returning. The people of the state need a savior. I must answer.

In the end, keep fighting for what is right. I have seen such good in the darkest of times, such smiles from the poorest of souls, such potential from the people of the state. I share in their sufferings, and I have promised them hope. I fulfill that promise today. Through Kingfisher, I have been reborn Liberation Unit Five. Through me, the state shall be reborn from the ashes of the Phoenixes. When this is over, tell the people my story, what I have given for them, and my hopes for them.

Show them my example, and ask them

'Follow me'

But for now, farewell. I shall see you all once again when humanity thrives in this world, when hope and light fills every dark place and lifts every lost soul. In the end, this is a routine salvation.
